FROM PETERSBURG. Contracting of the Lines_Public Execution

Correspondence of the Chronicle.] HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, July 15, 6 A. M.—Our lipes have been contracted, the left having been folded up in such a manner as to materially strengthen the front line as it now is. The left of the line extends no further than the Jerusalem plank-road. Night before last the 2d corps was marched out to the works thrown up by the 6th corps pear the Weldon railroad. A flank movement on the part of the enemy was anticipated. Hancock had his corps en masse near the Williams' House. No enemy showed himself after we had awaited his coming a night and day. The line was then shortened without further delay.

Execution.
[Correspondence of the Chronicle.]
HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
July 15.—The execution of privates Gordon and Geary, of the 72d New York volunteers, convicted of rape, took place this morning at 9 o'clock before 4,000 spectators, consisting chiefly of teamsters, ambulance drivers, hospital attendants, and other non-combatants, Gen. Patrick having selected a locality where this class of persons congregate, so that the scene might have a wholesome effect upon those who are more or less outside the limits of military con-trol. Previous to the execution, both prisoners became penitent, and requested the chaplain who was present to say a few words of cau-tion to the spectators in their behalf, beseeching them to take warning from the scene they were about to witness, and to mark out for themselves a line of conduct which should steer clear of the misery which they had brought upon themselves and entailed upon their families.

At a given signal the bolt was drawn, and the two unfortunate men were almost instantaneously launched into eternity.

While they were still suspended, Gen. Patrict, Provost Marshal General, called all those present to ustention?

present to "attention," and in a few eloquent and telling words described to the assemblage the difficulty which had been experienced in the detection of the men who had just paid the penalty of the law. He said that "the finger of God was in this matter, and that but for His interference this outrage against the laws of society, of man, and of Heaven, would have passed by unavenged." He stated that it was the intention of Gens. Grant and Meade, and of every good and true man in the army, that this violation of the sacred rights of home should be stopped. He called attention to the existing raid in the North, and asked those present who had a mother, or a sister, or a wife, or even a triend, to picture to themselves their misery, if the ravages of war had invaded the sanctuary of their dear homes.

This is the fourth execution for this terrible offence. It is to be hoped it may be the last, mercy will be shown to offenders of this char-After hanging for half an hour the bodies
